BREAD BUNNIES!

Kids Reportedly Pass Up Candy for Whole Grain Bunnies!

They're back! These bunny-shaped breads (though they prefer the term "bread-shaped bunnies") only come around once a year. The original Great Harvest Bread Bunny is great in baskets and makes Easter especially fun at the breakfast table. Yes, they're cute. But don't let their cuteness keep you from diving in to the world's best Honey Whole Wheat bread! Fun, smiles, and a healthy whole grain meal guaranteed!

These bunnies will be bouncing into town in April.

BE SURE TO ORDER YOUR BREAD BUNNIES, AMBROSIA AND HOT CROSS BUNS BY THURSDAY, APRIL 18TH!

SPRING AMBROSIA...

Ring in the Spring!

This pineapple citrus Easter bread is made with coconut, golden raisins, and a touch of cinnamon. Beautifully braided, kissed with a sweet frosting, Spring Ambrosia is a heavenly addition to your Easter breakfast or dinner table. A great gift too! We will be baking Spring Ambrosia every day during Easter Week.

HUNDREDS OF YEARS OF TRADITION...

During the season of Lent (the forty days before Easter), Hot Cross Buns are featured in bakeries all over the world. The tradition of the buns dates back to Pagan times, when the cross represented the four quarters of the moon. To Romans, the cross represented the horns of a sacred ox. The word "bun" originated from the ancient word "boun", which was used to describe the revered animal. Early Christians reinterpreted the cross on the bun to signify the cross of Christ. Hot Cross Buns became a regular feature of Lent, particularly on Good Friday. In 1361, Father Thomas Rockliffe led the monks at St. Albans, England, in distributing Hot Cross Buns to the town's poor. Spices and dried fruit were added to ordinary buns in order to increase the abundance of the offering. These delicious buns have ever since been a reminder of love and generosity. Available Easter Week—be sure to order!
